

Tom Mcfall – Producer / Engineer / Programmer / Mixer

Tom played in a variety of bands as a teenager moving between playing guitar as well as keyboards and samplers. At Middlesex University he studied music, specializing in composition. During this time Tom further developed his fledgling studio skills. In his Graduation year Tom formed a band with his brother called 'Serial POP', which rose swiftly to release a couple of EP's and an album with various indie labels. During the twilight years of the band Tom started as a trainee assistant at Fortress Studios in London, going on eventually to become house engineer. In 2005 a series of sliding doors led Tom to take up a Pro-Tools role on an album Produced by Garrett 'Jackknife' Lee. The relationship was productive from the start and a month later Garrett invited Tom to Engineer Snow Patrols 'Eyes Open' album. Since then Tom has continued to work with Garrett on Bloc Party, Editors and R.E.M. whilst also striking out on Productions of his own including Television Room, Director and Kill Kenada.
